The oath or declaration is defective. A new oath or declaration in compliance with 37 CFR 1.67(a) identifying this application by application number and filing date is required. See MPEP §§ 602.01 and 602.02.

The oath or declaration is defective because the subject matter of claims 3 and 6 added to the application as of 9/10/03 is not entitled to any earlier filing date and the declaration is a copy of that in the parent application dated 8/27/01.

If applicant intends to pursue the subject matter of claims 3 and 6 it must be by way of the instant application being changed from a continuation application to a continuation-in-part application.

The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hatjasalo et al. (Hatjasalo).

Hatjasalo discloses a material of the construction claimed. Hatjasalo's knitted inner layer is considered an open mesh. As noted at the to of Col. 5 the material may be used as a protective bandage which is a tape. Such a bandage/tape is capable of being used in all of the recited applications.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed.

Art Unit: 3711

Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-14 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-18 of U.S. Patent No. 6,652,398 in view of Smith '367. The '398 patent claims the claimed device with the exception of specifying it is constructed as a tape. However, as disclosed by Smith it is known in the art to configure grips as a tape. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have configured the '398 grip as a tape as well if it was desired to apply the grip in that manner. Regarding the various recited implements the '398 tape would obviously have been suitable for use in each of these applications where grips are commonly known to be used.

Claims 1-14 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-18 of copending Application No. 10/659,560 claims 1-21 of copending Application No. 10/659,790, and claims 1-25 of copending Application No 10/659,674. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because vibration absorbent padded material, vibration absorbent material, and vibration absorbent grips would obviously have been suitable to form vibration absorbent tape which the examiner takes official notice of is commonly made of vibration absorbent materials.

Art Unit: 3711

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Rousseau, Kwitek, Brown, Jr. et al., Dawn et al., Barna, Walla et al., and Vaz have been cited for interest because they disclose similar materials.
